

IMBISA COMMISSION

The Banco de España commissions Imprenta de Billetes, S.A. (IMBISA), an own resource of the Banco de España, to produce the euro banknotes assigned to the Banco de España and provide related services.

IMBISA is a firm created to adapt to the legal framework for euro banknote production as established by the Guideline of the European Central Bank (ECB) of 13 November 2014. This Guideline only permits two alternatives for producing the national quota of euro banknotes: doing so at a printing works owned by the issuing central bank or through a competitive tender aimed at external printers. The Spanish authorities chose the first option and, accordingly, Law 36/2014 of 26 December 2014 on the 2015 State Budget amended the Law of Autonomy of the Banco de España so that the central bank could entrust its euro banknote production quota to a firm governed by commercial law in which it held a majority stake.
